STATE OFFICE BUILDING IN JEOPARDY

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION REFUSES MONEY FOR SITE

Members Claim That Under the Law Funds Can Only Be For Erection of Structure and Not For Ground-- Attorney General Crabbe Holds That the Money Can Be Taken From Workmen's Compensation, Thus Reversing Former Rulings.

Hopes for a new state office building within the next year were fading Tuesday when the three members of the state industrial commission and the special building commission assembled in the governor's office.

Failure of the legislature to provide means of paying for the site, and the positive clause in the law which provides that the money to be advanced by the industrial commission from the workmen's compensation fund should be "During construction of such building" are the cause for the expected failure of the project at this time.

Neither T. J. Duffy, chairman of the state industrial commission, nor J. D. Clark, another member of the commission is ready to permit the transfer of any of the compensation funds for the purchase of a site for the proposed new office building. Miss Rose Moriarty, the third member of the commission, was not interviewed because of her absence.

Chairman Duffy was informed of a ruling by Attorney General Crabbe to the effect that part of the money to be advanced by the state industrial commission could be used for purchase of the site, but declared that he could not possibly interpret the law in that way.

Judge Clark called attention to the fact that there is nothing in the law which provides that the site shall be purchased in the name of the state industrial commission, altho one clause provides that the state "shall lease from the commission such office building at an annual rental sufficient to produce the same amount of revenue received by the investment of state funds in other securities."

Chairman Duffy, who is strongly opposed to disturbing the balance of the workmen's compensation fund for any purpose, declared that the law was specific in stating that such money was borrowed from the fund by the state should be "paid out when needed during construction of the building" and there was absolutely no clause which provided for the payment of the site, or provision in the law whereby the building commission or any other agency was authorized to transfer the site, when purchased, to the commission. Without possession of the site in fee simple, he held that the fund would have absolutely no security.

It was also pointed out that an annual rental of an amount equal to the interest on bonds must be paid by the state each year.

Both members of the industrial commission expressed themselves in favor of a new office building and would be willing to make the loan from the compensation fund were the law specific in granting a clear title to the property, if acquired with other funds, but neither are ready to make any advancements for the purchase of any site, because of the failure of the legislature to provide such a loan.

Attorney General Crabbe reversed two previous opinions from his own department in ruling that the insurance money could be used for the site.

His latest opinion followed a lengthy session with his legal advisers Monday. It all came about because the enabling act says that this money shall be used for the "construction and erection" of the building and does not mention the purchase of the site. Mr. Crabbe had twice before held that the "erection" of the building meant the actual construction of the edifice and had nothing to do with the site. The first opinion of this nature was when the advisory board sought to exercise its veto power on the choice of a site, and at that time Mr. Crabbe held that that under the strict interpretation of the law, the advisory board could have nothing to say except in awarding contracts for actual construction. The second opinion was given last Saturday when he held that money from the workmen's compensation fund could not be used for the purchase of the site but only for the work of construction.

SIDEWALKS TO BE DECORATED FOR HOLIDAYS

Christmas Trees to be Planted Along Curbs in Front of Business Places.

It was suggested at the chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday evening that the merchants place a Christmas tree in front of their places of business.

The trees could be placed at the curb where there are holes for flag staffs. The trees could be easily illuminated and decorated. This would create a Christmas spirit in shoppers and would be also a gentle reminder that the greatest holiday in the Christian calendar is close at hand. Thomas Stocklen, T. O. Gilliland and E. S. Neuding were appointed as a committee to see the merchants and to procure trees of uniform size.

How to Get Rid of All Weevils

Heavy Damage Wrought to Beans and Peas by Many Little Insects.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The annual board bill of the bean and pea weevils reaches a total of many millions. Furthermore, on account of heavy damages wrought by these insects, farmers have sharply reduced the acreage devoted to beans and peas, in numerous cases abandoning the commercial production of those crops for others.

Contrary to a widely current belief, bean and pea weevils do not develop spontaneously from the germ of the seed. As the bean and pea pods grow, the mother weevil, which flies from the storage house where infested seed are kept to the growing crop in the field, lays eggs either on the outside of the pods or within them. From these eggs, which appear as mere white specks, there hatch white grubs that bore through the pod into the soft developing beans or peas. The holes through which the grubs enter the seeds are too small to be seen without a microscope. Thus many seeds that appear outwardly sound in reality harbor weevil grubs. Their presence is usually not discovered until as adult weevils they burrow their way to freedom, leaving a hole about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. Leguminous Crops Injured.

Injury to leguminous crops is caused by a number of insects. Those commonly found in supplies of beans, peas, cowpeas, or lentils in this country include the pea weevil, the common bean weevil, the four-spotted bean weevil, and the lentil weevil. With the exception of the pea weevil and the lentil weevil the weevils attacking beans and cow peas produce generation after generation in dried seeds in storage as well as on the growing plants.

Since the pea weevil, which attacks peas, cannot breed in dried seeds, peas intended for planting may be held over for one year in tight paper bags so that the weevils that emerge cannot live but will die before the second spring.

If weevils are found in peas, cowpeas, or beans, they can be readily killed by fumigation with carbon disulphid. Water-tight barrels make convenient receptacles in which to store and fumigate small quantities of these crops. Fill the barrels to within a few inches of the top with seeds, pour one cup or more of carbon disulphid on the seeds in each barrel, and then cover with a double thickness of heavy wrapping paper tied tight around the top, or with several sacks weighted down with boards. A wooden cover is also useful in keeping in the fumes. The carbon disulphid when poured over the seeds quickly vaporizes, and the gas, being heavier than air, sinks to the bottom of the container, filling all the air spaces. Fumigation requires from 24 to 48 hours. It is better to use too much carbon disulphid than not enough. Well dried seeds properly fumigated with carbon disulphid are not damaged either as food or as seed to be planted.

Temperature for Fumigating.
A favorable temperature for fumigating with this chemical is 75 degrees Fahrenheit or higher. In fumigating with carbon disulphid care must be taken to make sure that there is no fire in the room or nearby, even lighted cigars, lighted lanterns, or the spark from an electric fixture, as the gas is explosive and inflammable when coming into contact with fire in any form. Carbon disulphid is purchased as a liquid in iron drums or tin cans and weighs about 10½ pounds per gallon. When fumigating large quantities of seeds, use from 8 to 20 pounds of carbon disulphid per 1,000 cubic feet of space to be fumigated, the amount varying with the tightness of the container and the temperature.

Storing Unsound Fruit Will Result in Rotting

Most of the loss that results from the rotting of fruit in storage can be traced to two causes. The first, and probably the most important of these, is the storing of unsound fruit. No fruit that is attacked by insects or disease or which has been bruised during the process of picking and packing should be stored.

The second cause of loss is the failure to get fruit into storage promptly after it is harvested. Experiments have shown that exposure to warm weather for a few days will shorten several weeks the life of the fruit in storage. It pays to store only sound mature fruit which has been cooled soon after it was harvested.

Alfalfa Hay Very Rich in Protein Substances

Alfalfa hay is rich in protein and mineral substances. It contains other elements which supplement corn silage admirably. A mixture consisting of 300 pounds ground barley, 200 pounds ground corn, and 300 pounds bran will go very well with the silage and alfalfa hay. Feed one pound of this mixture for each 3½ to 4 pounds of 3½ per cent milk produced. Some cows will require a little more feed than this and others a little less. When more than 15 pounds of grain a day is fed a cow, much care should be exercised in determining whether the cow is receiving more than she can take care of.

PROMISING YOUNG WOMAN DIED

From Self Administered Poison After Writing Own Obituary and Directing Disposition of Her Body.

Columbus, Dec. 1.—(U.P.)—After writing her own obituary and leaving notes directing disposition of her body, Miss Tecla F. Haldy, 30, assistant in the department of engineering and drawing at Ohio State University, committed suicide by swallowing poison. Miss Haldy's body was found last night at her home. In an adjoining room, a complete wardrobe was neatly arranged on a bed. Pinned to the dress was a note saying: "I wish to be buried in these clothes."

Despondency over ill health was believed responsible for Miss Haldy's deed. Two other notes, one addressed to her brother, and another containing instructions for her funeral, were found. A telegram reading: "Come at once, Tecla is dead," was found nearby. It was also addressed to her brother.

SKIM-MILK FOR PIGS.

Makes Better Gain than Tankage and Corn.

Skim-milk and buttermilk are worth about 23 1/4 cents a gallon for feeding with corn to fattening pigs.

In recent tests at the Ohio Experiment Station pigs in dry lots fed corn and skimmilk and carried from 65 to 200 pounds in weight gained 1.46 pounds daily. They ate 294 pounds of corn and 654 pounds of skimmilk for each 100 pounds of gain in live weight.

In these experiments pigs fed corn and tankage gained 1.33 pounds daily and consumed 351 pounds of corn and 36 pounds of tankage for each 100 pounds of gain.

Each 100 pounds of skimmilk replaced 5.5 pounds of tankage and 8.8 pounds of corn. The milk was worth 23 1/4 cents a gallon, or 33 cents a hundredweight, as compared with corn at 84 cents a bushel and tankage $70 a ton.

W. L. Robison, in charge of swine investigation at the Ohio Station, says that 9 or 10 pounds of skimmilk is worth as much as one pound of tankage, when used as the only protein supplement to grain for fattening shoats. It is worth much more when used to replace part of the tankage. A little less than one-half gallon of milk per head daily with half the usual amount of tankage with corn showed a value of 59 cents a hundred pounds for the milk.

The feeding value of milk is influenced by age of pigs, kind of ration with which used, whether the pigs have green pasture or green feed, and other factors. It is especially valuable for weanling pigs.

About 3 pounds of milk will balance each pound of grain for pigs weighing 50 to 100 pounds, with somewhat more milk for lighter pigs, 2 pounds for those weighing 100 to 150 pounds, and less for those weighing more than 150 pounds.

TRAGIC DEATH OF TIFFIN ATTORNEY

Tiffin, Dec. 1.—(UP.)—The body of Robert Lee Deran, prominent Tiffin attorney drowned last night when he accidentally drove his car through a retaining wall and plunged fifty feet to the rocks in Sandusky river, was recovered today by city firemen.

Deran, leaving the Eagles' home, which sits on the summit of a hill overlooking the river, failed to make the turn in the drive and his car crashed through the wall. The machine was reduced to wreckage and Deran drowned before aid could reach him.

Deran was a World war veteran. He was formerly city solicitor and active in Democratic circles. During the war he aided the government in settling for the Chillicothe and the Louisville cantonment sites. He was unmarried and is survived by one brother, H. C. Deran, a Fremont attorney.

Wembley Comedy

One of the hundred thousand things to see at Wembley is an exhibit representing a grocer's shop in which cheese, oatmeal, bread, sugar, and so on, are lying about with no wrapping. Dummy rats, mice, and other small beasts are shown eating up the good things, and it is explained that this proves how important it is that food should be made up in properly packed parcels before being exposed for sale.

But there are real rats and mice at Wembley, and one night they discovered the unwrapped food and did what the dummy rats were pretending to do—ate it all up, so that in the morning there was not a scrap left. They drove home the moral, all right, but at rather too heavy a cost for repetition every day.—Family Herald.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

Where Humor Wins

Harmony is a good thing, but an occasional outbreak to clear the air is also good. One big point in any battle of words is for one side or the other to keep his sense of humor well to the fore, and by dint of some remark inserted in just the right place turn the battle into a lark.—Griff.

Lesson for December 6

PAUL'S VOYAGE AND SHIPWRECK

LESSON TEXT—Acts 27:1-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Be of good cheer:
it is I, be not afraid."—Matt. 14:27.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in a Storm at Sea.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Story of a Shipwreck.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-
IC—Paul's Leadership.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-
IC—The Christian Overcoming Adverse
Circumstances.

1. The Voyage (vv. 1-20).

1. The Ship (vv. 1-6).

It was a vessel of Alexandria sailing
from Myra to Italy.

2. The Company (vv. 1-2).

Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus
and Luke were permitted to go with
him. Besides these three there were
two hundred and seventy-three in the
ship (v. 37).

3. The Storm (vv. 7-20).

The ship made little headway on account of unfavorable winds. Paul advised that they winter in Fair Havens
(vv. 9-12), but his advice was un-
heeded. The gentle south wind de-
ceived them so they loosed from Crete
only to be overtaken by the tem-
pestuous wind called Euroclydon.
They did everything possible to save
the ship; they took up the boat which
was towed behind; they bound great
cables around the ship to strengthen
it for the storm; they lightened the
ship by bringing down from the masts
and rigging everything that was super-
fluous, and finally the cargo and tackling were thrown overboard. All
this seemed to be of no avail and all
hope of being saved was removed. It
seemed that wicked men and material
forces were combined to prevent the
great apostle from reaching Rome.
However, these very experiences were
overruled by God to bring good cheer
and salvation to many on the way.
We should remember that tempestuous
winds as well as soft breezes await God's faithful ones. The presence of
storm does not prove that we are going
the wrong way.

II. Paul's Serene Faith (vv. 21-26).

To a man who does not know God,
upon the failure of the sun and stars
to shine for many days, the fading of
all hope is natural; but to the man of
faith, hope still burns brightly. God
is just as near to His own in the midst
of a stormy sea as in their quiet homes.
Observe Paul's behavior:

1. His Rebuke for Their Failure to Heed His Advice at Fair Havens (v. 21).
This was not a mere taunt, but a
reference to the wisdom of his former
advice, urging them to give him a more
respectful hearing.

2. Bids Them Be of Good Cheer
(v. 22).

He inspired them with hope.

3. He Promises Them Safety
(v. 22).

Though the ship go to pieces, every
man's life should be saved.

4. The Source of His Information
(vv. 23-24).

The angel of God had revealed it
unto him.

5. The Reason of Paul's Calm Faith
(v. 23).

"Whose I am, and whom I serve."

God can and will take care of His property (John 10:28-29). Those who have been redeemed by the blood of Jesus are not their own, but God's.

III. The Ship's Crew All Safe on
Land (vv. 27-44).

This was exactly as the Lord had
said. We can rest assured that all
God has spoken will come to pass even
though there be a broken ship, brutal
soldiers and a perfidious crew. Aside
from the fulfillment of God's promises, the most important part of this
section is the splendid sanity which
characterized Paul's action on the way.
Three things marked his sanctified
common sense.

1. His Vigilance Detected That the
Sailors Had Planned to Escape (v. 30).
He knew how much they would be
needed presently, and at once took
steps to prevent their escape. He went
straight to the man in charge and
said, "Except these abide in the ship,
ye cannot be saved." Why should he
make such a declaration when God
had said that all should be saved? It
was because he was not one of those
foolish men who ignore human agency.
He practiced the truth that genuine
reliance upon God is the all-powerful
incentive to human action.

2. He Got Them to Take a Substantial Breakfast (v. 34).

It was no time to talk to these men
about their souls when their bodies
needed immediate attention.

3. He Gave Thanks to God (v. 35).

This he did in the presence of them
all. His prayer for that meal had
more effect upon the people than his
preaching would have had.

The Men Who Succeed

EDWIN JUDY WROTE OF
HIS TRIP TO UNIVERSITY

Many Other Places of Interest Were Visited By Club Boys And Girls of Pickaway County—Interesting Lectures And Splendid Entertainment Was Furnished During Stay In City.

Edwin Judy of Saltcreek township,
has written the following interesting
account of his recent trip to Columbus
and Ohio State university in company
with other club members from this
county:

"On Monday morning, November
16, I left for Columbus with seven
other club members from Pickaway
county.

"We arrived in Columbus about
12:30 and went to the Jefferson hotel
where we were to room during the
week. We went to our rooms and
then returned to the lobby of the hotel where we were separated into
groups of about twenty-five each to
go to the university.

We went into University hall to get
acquainted with our fellow members.
W. H. Palmer welcomed us to the
university and then were organized
into permanent groups for the week.

"We went to King avenue Methodist Episcopal church for our supper.
After supper we went to the gymnasium and there we had a general good
time and had a chance to get acquainted with our neighbors. After the meeting we returned to our rooms in
the hotel.

"Tuesday we were awakened at 6
o'clock, for we were to eat breakfast
at the Mills restaurant at 7. We
went to the university and were instructed in tying knots that are useful
on the farm. This lasted about an
hour, to be continued the two days
following. On the last day of the
rope craft, we made a rope halter that
we were allowed to keep.

"We then enjoyed an hour of music
of the European countries played on
a Victrola. During the next hour, we
sang club songs and enjoyed a talk
on European customs by H. C. Ram-
sower. After dinner we sang songs
for about fifteen minutes and then we
gathered on the campus for a group
picture.

During the afternoon we heard two
lectures; one on the problems of leadership, and this told of the task remaining for the younger generation
and how club work prepares the boys
and girls for their tasks. The other
lecture was given by the field editor
of the National Stockman and Farm-
er. It told about the customs in Europe, mostly about the farming and
caring for the farm products in England and France. We had about an
hour and a half before supper time
and during this hour we went to the
museum and other places on the
campus. After supper we went to

University hall and made a trip thru
Europe with Dean Vivian, by pictures.

"On Wednesday, we studied rope
tying, enjoyed the music, as it is composed and used in Asia, and heard
some notable people in Ohio speak.
Among these was the man who is
president of the 4 H Club work in California.

"In the afternoon, we listened to
a lecture on Asia given by Mr. A. W.
Place. In his lecture he explained
the life and customs of the Japanese.
He told how the Japanese could keep
all signs of emotion from showing on
their faces. After the lecture, some
club girls gave demonstrations. The
demonstrations that they gave were
given a few hours previous before a
group of doctors. The doctors expressed their surprise by saying that
they could not have brought out the
facts as well as the girls did.

"There remained an hour and a half
of the afternoon before supper and
we went out across the river to the
stock barns. We saw them grooming
the prize stallion that they are going
to take to the International Stock
Show at Chicago. We then went back
to the stadium to listen and watch the University band practicing. That
night we saw the picture show entitled, 'Peter Pan.'

"Thursday forenoon, we visited the
state house, penitentiary and the Columbus Packing company. In the
afternoon, six boys and six girls gave
a demonstration of an ideal club
meeting.

"Mr. R. B. Tom, the recreation director of the university, gave us
games and other things to do at club
meetings after all business has been
finished. After that, we listened to
a lecture on the beauties of Ohio. In
the lecture, he explained where the
seat of Ohio was taken from. It is
a beautiful place between Circleville
and Chillicothe. In the evening, different groups gave stunts and a quar-
tet of officials sang.

"On Friday, we were entertained
with American music, played by Miss Fannie Buchanan on a Victrola. In
the afternoon, 4-H honors were awarded by Dean Vivian to the winners in
the various clubs in Ohio. In the
evening, a play was given to show
the Ideal 4-H club and its work, and
after this, we were taken on a trip,
by pictures, over the United States
by Dean Vivian.

"Dean Vivian then bade us farewell
and hoped that we would all return
to the university in the future."

Decorative Headdress for Evening Occasions

Women of the same height and of similar build, wearing precisely the same costume, will look totally different, because one wears her clothes well and the other does not.
The trim appearance of the shingled head is sufficient in itself for the daytime, but at the dance, in the theater, or restaurant it seems to demand some kind of decoration. And so the decorative headdress for evening wear is finding favor. At a recent dance several pretty bandeaux were noted. One was of metal tissue; another, for black hair, was red, with a rose to match tucked behind the left ear. A tall woman, with brown hair wore two strips of golden-yellow silk ribbon, joined together after the fashion of the ancient Greeks, wide apart on top of the head and narrowing into one width over the ears. Where the ribbons met at the ears, flat, plaque-like decorations of yellow and brown artificial berries were suspended.

Man-Made Hurricane

To drive out the poisonous carbon monoxide produced by 46,000 autos that will pass daily through the new vehicular tunnel nearing completion beneath the Hudson river, a tearing hurricane will whirl constantly through the tube, says Popular Science Monthly. A unique system of ventilation approved recently solves the last important engineering problem of the great tunnel. Immense electric fans will drive a 75-mile gale through a seven-foot airway under the traffic road.

AMUSEMENTS

Richard Dix, Neil Hamilton, loaned to Paramount by D. W. Griffith; Claire Adams and Robert Edson are featured in William de Mille's latest production for Paramount, "Men and Women," coming to the Metropolitan theater for a two days' run beginning today.

"Men and Women" is an adaptation by Clara Beranger of the successful stage play by David Belasco and Henry C. de Mille. In the picture Dix has the role of a young bank cashier, who borrows his company's securities to make a "cleanup" in Wall street. After "Manhattan" and "Too Many Kisses" Dix is one of the most popular stars of the screen.

Hamilton, another most popular leading man, plays Dix's assistant in the production. He is in love with his superior's wife, played by Claire Adams, and doesn't put himself out at all to keep it a secret.

Miss Adams, who made her debut in Paramount pictures in "The Fast Set," also William de Mille production, is well cast as Agnes Prescott, the luxury-loving young wife of the cashier. It is her longing for the luxuries of life that leads her husband to borrow bank securities and get himself into a bad scrape.

Edson, seen in "The Golden Bed," the William de Mille film, "Locked Doors," and others, is cast as the banker in "Men and Women." Henry Stephenson has the role of a broker, who lets Dix in on a "sure thing" on the market, only to go bankrupt himself when the deal falls flat. Flora Finch, of John Bunny Comedies fame, has the part of Miss Adams' newly-rich aunt from the West. She starts no end of trouble in the Preston household when she arrives and tells Mrs. Preston that she should have married someone with a little more business ability than the plodding Will. Agnes (Miss Adams) begins thinking that perhaps this is true and—but that's for the picture to tell.

Bright Colored Furs to Trim New Winter Coats

Bright colored furs are appearing in Paris as the trimming on winter coats. Also, slimness is a feature of many of the newer wraps, with wide flare effect around the skirt in the long coat frock outfit.

Popularity of Velvet

Gowns Still Continues

Velvet continues its successful reign in the world of fashion, and has been seen worn by the most strikingly dressed women in the crowds attending the Longchamps races, says a Paris fashion correspondent. A wider silhouette and slightly molded line have been adopted by practically everyone except, of course, for the tailored suit, which remains severe and masculine in its lines. The races also displayed smart coats in broad cloth, and even some in light-shaded tweeds.

One green velvet ensemble seen in the Jockey club's enclosure had a coat full in the back, a shawl collar and cuffs and a Russian toque of green velvet. Beside it was a dark lavender blue tweed dress and coat. This coat had three box plaits on the sides, collar and cuffs of gray fox and a lavender rayon felt for a hat.

Another fur of grayish tones, resembling chinchilla, is popular this season. It is known as "suzuki," and its origin is an American rat. Another novelty is a peroxidized moleskin, in which a golden shade is induced by the same treatment the hairdressers use to lighten lady's tresses. Quite a number of women at the races wore henna-colored hats.

Princess Lines Seen in

New Frocks and Wraps

One of the significant fashion developments is the introduction of silhouettes much more varied than the straight chemise lines that have so long held sway.

The importance of the princess silhouette in its modern and modified version cannot be overemphasized, for it appears in the collection of practically every designer of note.

Not only does this new line attract attention in frocks, but it is followed in coats and wraps that in many cases exactly match or are in harmony with the dresses.

Many wraps reveal a tendency toward dolman lines. In several models of particular interest a close effect at the shoulders is achieved by fine gathers or shirtings and the wrap widens out gradually in a graceful flare toward the hem.

Rather similar in line are the new topcoats for sports or travel wear, made of stunning novelty woolen materials and distinguished by handsome trimmings of fur.

Taffeta Is Charming in

Dainty Youthful Models

Taffeta is a material which we sometimes think of as a material belonging especially to grandmothers, since it is old in the days when they wore voluminous skirts. In reality it now is, or should be, almost the exclusive property of youth. It is a pity everyone cannot wear taffeta. It is such a pleasant-feeling material. If one needs new proof, however, that it looks its best in youthful models one has but to see the new evening models with the triple plaited frills around the skirt. Some times these frills are of the taffeta pinked, and on some frocks they are made of malines in several shades. Sometimes the taffeta frock is opened at one side, a malines godet set in with the frills at the bottom, and the frill is carried all around the bottom of the dress and up the opening on each side. The frock is draped slightly at the top of this opening and headed by a rose or some other flower made of the taffeta.

New Accessories

Very new and chic are narrow scarfs of beige crepe de chine embroidered with modernistic motifs in colored silks. Gloves and bag of the same color are carried with these scarfs.

Lost His Temper

The irate customer returned to the photographer with the prints of the pictures he had taken.

"Do I look like this picture?" he stormed, shaking it in the photographer's face. "You've made me look like a monkey! Cock-eyed, and a chin like a bulldog. Do you call that a good likeness?"

"The answer is in the negative," sweetly replied the photographer.—Everybody's Magazine.

STEVENSON

"To interpret America to Europe and to give Europeans authentic information about America," said Burton E. Stevenson, local librarian, Saturday, "is the task that I have assumed in accepting the position as head of the American Library in Paris."

Mr. Stevenson catalogued the books and magazines in an American fashion and was a party to the movement that resulted in the organization of the American library in Paris in 1920.

Since the organization of the association in Paris two other European branches have been opened and are doing very well.

The American idea of loaning books has been adopted and volumes are being sent out to libraries in other European countries and to universities.

At present between 12 and 15 people are employed in this European work. As the plan develops, the force will be increased.

Besides the usual library work, two other branches are being carried on: A department of reference service on international affairs, which is equipped to give information on such matters to any interested person; secondly, a library school for 20 or 30 young people who are training for American library work in Europe.

The work of the association is financed by neither the American nor French governments but by endowment funds that aggregate more than 600,000 francs.

The library school and the international reference service is financed by the Laura Spellman-Rockefeller foundation.

On the board of trustees are such persons as:

Comtesse de Chamberlain, formerly a Miss Longworth, of Cincinnati; Miss Anne Morgan, Robert E. Olds, new assistant secretary of state, and Mrs. Edith Wharton, famous woman novelist.

Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, N. Y. C., now heads the American committee of the association.

Such prominent Frenchmen as the following are on the advisory council: Raymond Poincare, former president of France; Marshals Foch and Joffre and J. J. Jusserand, former ambassador to the United States.—Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

There isn't much wrong in a country where 83 per cent of the general complaint concern women's styles.

DOMESTIC QUARREL MAY PROVE FATAL

Akron, Nov. 30.—(UP.)—A domestic quarrel early today may result fatally for Mrs. Mary Thomas, 31, whose husband, George Thomas, is held in the city jail.

Thomas struck his wife with a heavy wrench when the couple quarreled, according to police. Mrs. Thomas attempted to defend herself with a razor and cut Thomas' hand.

Physicians said Mrs. Thomas' condition is critical.

MELBA
Likes Boston's Society and Its Music Best of All In America.

As far as Melba, the famous songbird, is concerned, Boston is the capital of the United States, at least along musical and social lines. She says so in the installment of her autobiography which appears in Liberty.

"What is there about Boston that makes its society so charming, with the same quiet appeal which one finds among one's friends in England?" asks Melba. "There is a quality about the social life in Boston totally different from that of most great American cities, a quality which can best be described as one of repose."

"Boston knew the best in music, and it has always had it. Indeed, all American audiences are audiences before which it is a delight to sing. Their praise is worth as much as, if not more than, that of any audience in the world."

"I wonder if the average reader to whom an orchestra is just an orchestra, a collection of instruments and nothing more, can realize the great soul which animated that superb institution, the Boston Symphony Orchestra. I grew to love that orchestra almost as though it had been a single human being instead of a collection."

"Chicago was, in those days, an even greater contrast to Boston than New York. In fact, all my early memories of Chicago were rather turbulent."

HARTMAN THEATER.

Leon Gordon, hero of the outstanding dramatic hit of the past two seasons is to be presented in "White Cargo," produced by Earl Carroll, at the Hartman theater, Columbus, all next week starting Monday night, December 7. This happy combination being sponsored by Earl Carroll. Mr.
Carroll is known to the theater going public chiefly for his "vanities," but
a perusal of his life history will show
that his first energies were devoted to the dramatic. Had he achieved the tremendous hit that was attained by
"White Cargo" earlier in his career
it is possible that the more commercial
"vanities" might never have been created.

Mr. Gordon has a number of successes to his credit, but none has climbed the heights so rapidly or so remunerately as has "White Cargo."
Arrived at an enviable position as leading man for most of the stars
the success of "White Cargo" led Mr.
Gordon to announce his retirement
from the stage. Whether he holds to this decision remains to be seen, but
the fact remains that he listened to the siren voice of Earl Carroll long enough to star in this greatest hit
with this company. He has been so fortunate and successful as author,
actor and director that it is going to
be difficult for him to settle into one line of activity. In the meantime he lends added importance to one of the most important dramatic events of the season.

"White Cargo" deals with the
struggles of the white men who dwell
on the rough edge of civilization in tropical Africa, to wrest from the rank forests the rubber so necessary
in our daily lives. Harrased by climatic conditions these men sometimes succumb to the moral undercur-
rent that sweeps up from the tropical jungles and the burning deserts. The author contends that mind and heart
are affected by the damp rot of the country and in this vivid "protrayal
of the primitive" as it has been termed, "White Cargo" set a new style in drama. It touches a very ticklish
question of life as lived on the edge
of Africa. It requires a master touch to avoid sensationalism and this is attained by players of exceptional ability. These include Wallie Clark,

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION REFUSES MONEY FOR SITE

Members Claim That Under the Law Funds Can Only Be For Erection of Structure and Not For Ground—Attorney General Crabbe Holds That the Money Can Be Taken From Workmen's Compensation, Thus Reversing Former Rulings.

Hopes for a new state office building within the next year were fading Tuesday when the three members of the state industrial commission and the special building commission assembled in the governor's office.

Failure of the legislature to provide means of paying for the site, and the positive clause in the law which provides that the money to be advanced by the industrial commission from the workmen's compensation fund should be "During construction of such building" are the cause for the expected failure of the project at this time.

Neither T. J. Duffy, chairman of the state industrial commission, nor J. D. Clark, another member of the commission is ready to permit the transfer of any of the compensation funds for the purchase of a site for the proposed new office building. Miss Rose Moriarity, the third member of the commission, was not interviewed because of her absence.

Chairman Duffy was informed of a ruling by Attorney General Crabbe to the effect that part of the money to be advanced by the state industrial commission could be used for purchase of the site, but declared that he could not possibly interpret the law in that way.

Judge Clark called attention to the fact that there is nothing in the law which provides that the site shall be purchased in the name of the state industrial commission, although one clause provides that the state "shall lease from the commission such office building at an annual rental sufficient to produce the same amount of revenue received by the investment of state funds in other securities."

Chairman Duffy, who is strongly opposed to disturbing the balance of the workmen's compensation fund for any purpose, declared that the law was specific in stating that such money was borrowed from the fund by the state should be "paid out when needed during construction of the building" and there was absolutely no clause which provided for the payment of the site, or provision in the law whereby the building commission or any other agency was authorized to transfer the site, when purchased, to the commission. Without possession of the site in fee simple, he held that the fund would have absolutely no security.

It was also pointed out that an annual rental of an amount equal to the interest on bonds must be paid by the state each year.

Both members of the industrial commission expressed themselves in favor of a new office building and would be willing to make the loan from the compensation fund were the law specific in granting a clear title to the property, if acquired with other funds, but neither are ready to make any advancements for the purchase of any site, because of the failure of the legislature to provide such a loan.

His latest opinion followed a lengthy session with his legal advisers Monday. It all came about because the enabling act says that this money shall be used for the "construction and erection" of the building and does not mention the purchase of the site. Mr. Crabbe had twice before held that the "erection" of the building meant the actual construction of the edifice and had nothing to do with the site. The first opinion of this nature was when the advisory board sought to exercise its veto power on the choice of a site, and at that time Mr. Crabbe held that that under the strict interpretation of the law, the advisory board could have nothing to say except in awarding contracts for actual construction. The second opinion was given last Saturday when he held that money from the workmen's compensation fund could not be used for the purchase of the site but only for the work of construction.

SIDEWALKS TO BE DECORATED FOR HOLIDAYS

Christmas Trees to be Planted Along Curbs in Front of Business Places.

It was suggested at the chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday evening that the merchants place a Christmas tree in front of their places of business.

The trees could be placed at the curb where there are holes for flag staffs. The trees could be easily illuminated and decorated. This would create a Christmas spirit in shoppers and would be also a gentle reminder that the greatest holiday in the Christian calendar is close at hand. Thomas Stocklen, T. O. Gilliland and E. S. Neuding were appointed as a committee to see the merchants and to procure trees of uniform size.

How to Get Rid of All Weevils

The annual board bill of the bean and pea weevils reaches a total of many millions. Furthermore, on account of heavy damages wrought by these insects, farmers have sharply reduced the acreage devoted to beans and peas, in numerous cases abandoning the commercial production of those crops for others.

Contrary to a widely current belief, bean and pea weevils do not develop spontaneously from the germ of the seed. As the bean and pea pods grow, the mother weevil, which flies from the storage house where infested seed are kept to the growing crop in the field, lays eggs either on the outside of the pods or within them. From these eggs, which appear as mere white specks, there hatch white grubs that bore through the pod into the soil developing beans or peas. The holes through which the grubs enter the seeds are too small to be seen without a microscope. Thus many seeds that appear outwardly sound in reality harbor weevil grubs. Their presence is usually not discovered until as adult weevils they burrow their way to freedom, leaving a hole about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. Leguminous Crops Injured.

Injury to leguminous crops is caused by a number of insects. Those commonly found in supplies of beans, peas, cowpeas, or lentils in this country include the pea weevil, the common bean weevil, the four-spotted bean weevil, and the lentil weevil. With the exception of the pea weevil and the lentil weevil the weevils attacking beans and cow peas produce generation after generation in dried seeds in storage as well as on the growing plants.

Since the pea weevil, which attacks peas, cannot breed in dried seeds, peas intended for planting may be held over for one year in tight paper bags so that the weevils that emerge cannot live but will die before the second spring.

If weevils are found in peas, cowpeas, or beans, they can be readily killed by fumigation with carbon disulphid. Water-tight barrels make convenient receptacles in which to store and fumigate small quantities of these crops. Fill the barrels to within a few inches of the top with seeds, pour one cup or more of carbon disulphid on the seeds in each barrel, and then cover with a double thickness of heavy wrapping paper tied tight around the top, or with several sacks weighted down with boards. A wooden cover is also useful in keeping in the fumes. The carbon disulphid when poured over the seeds quickly vaporizes, and the gas, being heavier than air, sinks to the bottom of the container, filling all the air spaces. Fumigation requires from 24 to 48 hours. It is better to use too much carbon disulphid than not enough. Well dried seeds properly fumigated with carbon disulphid are not damaged either as food or as seed to be planted.

Temperature for Fumigating.

A favorable temperature for fumigating with this chemical is 75 degrees Fahrenheit or higher. In fumigating with carbon disulphid care must be taken to make sure that there is no fire in the room or nearby, even lighted cigars, lighted lanterns, or the spark from an electric fixture, as the gas is explosive and inflammable when coming into contact with fire in any form. Carbon disulphid is purchased as a liquid in iron drums or tin cans and weighs about 10½ pounds per gallon. When fumigating large quantities of seeds, use from 8 to 20 pounds of carbon disulphid per 1,000 cubic feet of space to be fumigated, the amount varying with the tightness of the container and the temperature.

Storing Unsound Fruit Will Result in Rotting

Most of the loss that results from the rotting of fruit in storage can be traced to two causes. The first, and probably the most important of these, is the storing of unsound fruit. No fruit that is attacked by insects or disease or which has been bruised during the process of picking and packing should be stored.

The second cause of loss is the failure to get fruit into storage promptly after it is harvested. Experiments have shown that exposure to warm weather for a few days will shorten several weeks the life of the fruit in storage. It pays to store only sound mature fruit which has been cooled soon after it was harvested.

Alfalfa Hay Very Rich in Protein Substances

Alfalfa hay is rich in protein and mineral substances. It contains other elements which supplement corn silage admirably. A mixture consisting of 300 pounds ground barley, 200 pounds ground corn, and 300 pounds bran will go very well with the silage and alfalfa hay. Feed one pound of this mixture for each 3½ to 4 pounds of 3½ per cent milk produced. Some cows will require a little more feed than this and others a little less. When more than 15 pounds of grain a day is fed a cow, much care should be exercised in determining whether the cow is receiving more than she can take care of.

From Self Administered Poison After Writing Own Obituary and Directing Disposition of Her Body.

Columbus, Dec. 1.—(UP.)—

After writing her own obituary and leaving notes directing disposition of her body, Miss Tecla F. Haldy, 30, assistant in the department of engineering and drawing at Ohio State University, committed suicide by swallowing poison. Miss Haldy's body was found last night at her home. In an adjoining room, a complete wardrobe was neatly arranged on a bed. Pinned to the dress was a note saying: "I wish to be buried in these clothes."

Despondency over ill health was believed responsible for Miss Haldy's deed. Two other notes, one addressed to her brother, and another containing instructions for her funeral, were found. A telegram reading: "Come at once, Tecla is dead," was found nearby. It was also addressed to her brother.

M'ARTHUR WILL CASE OPENED

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 30.—(UP.)—The late Archibald McArthur, former attorney of Dodgeville, Wis., was in full possession of his faculties when he willed his fortune, estimated at $350,000 to Mr. and Mrs. George R. Rafferty of this city, witnesses testified today at the hearing instituted by Arthur McArthur, a nephew, to break the will.

Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Tucker, of Jacksonville, testified that in their opinion the aged attorney before his death was of sound mind and that he was capable of handling his own business.

Both declared on the stand that McArthur had told of his visit here last summer before he died supposedly of cancer.

McArthur's will, scribbled in pencil and witnessed by two mechanics in a local garage, left his estate to the Rafferty's "in payment for kindnesses."

A reward of $10,500 is offered by Buffalo authorities for the capture of Harris.

SKIM-MILK FOR PIGS.
Makes Better Gain than Tankage and Corn.

Skim-milk and buttermilk are worth about 23 1/4 cents a gallon for feeding with corn to fattening pigs.

In recent tests at the Ohio Experiment Station pigs in dry lots fed corn and skimmilk and carried from 65 to 200 pounds in weight gained 1.46 pounds daily. They ate 294 pounds of corn and 654 pounds of skimmilk for each 100 pounds of gain in live weight.

In these experiments pigs fed corn and tankage gained 1.33 pounds daily and consumed 351 pounds of corn and 36 pounds of tankage for each 100 pounds of gain.

Each 100 pounds of skimmilk replaced 5.5 pounds of tankage and 8.8 pounds of corn. The milk was worth 23 1/4 cents a gallon, or 33 cents a hundredweight, as compared with corn at 84 cents a bushel and tankage $70 a ton.

W. L. Robison, in charge of swine investigation at the Ohio Station, says that 9 or 10 pounds of skimmilk is worth as much as one pound of tankage, when used as the only protein supplement to grain for fattening shoats. It is worth much more when used to replace part of the tankage. A little less than one-half gallon of milk per head daily with half the usual amount of tankage with corn showed a value of 59 cents a hundred pounds for the milk.

The feeding value of milk is influenced by age of pigs, kind of ration with which used, whether the pigs have green pasture or green feed, and other factors. It is especially valuable for weanling pigs.

About 3 pounds of milk will balance each pound of grain for pigs weighing 50 to 100 pounds, with somewhat more milk for lighter pigs, 2 pounds for those weighing 100 to 150 pounds, and less for those weighing more than 150 pounds.

TRAGIC DEATH OF TIFFIN ATTORNEY

Tiffin, Dec. 1.—(UP.)—The body of Robert Lee Reran, prominent Tiffin attorney drowned last night when he accidentally drove his car through a retaining wall and plunged fifty feet to the rocks in Sandusky river, was recovered today by city firemen.

Deran, leaving the Eagles' home, which sits on the summit of a hill overlooking the river, failed to make the turn in the drive and his car crashed through the wall. The machine was reduced to wreckage and Deran drowned before aid could reach him.

Deran was a World war veteran. He was formerly city solicitor and active in Democratic circles. During the war he aided the government in settling for the Chillicothe and the Louisville cantonment sites. He was unmarried and is survived by one brother, H. C. Deran, a Fremont attorney.

Wembley Comedy

One of the hundred thousand things to see at Wembley is an exhibit representing a grocer's shop in which cheese, oatmeal, bread, sugar, and so on, are lying about with no wrapping. Dummy rats, mice, and other small beasts are shown eating up the good things, and it is explained that this proves how important it is that food should be made up in properly packed parcels before being exposed for sale.

But there are real rats and mice at Wembley, and one night they discovered the unwrapped food and did what the dummy rats were pretending to do—ate it all up, so that in the morning there was not a scrap left. They drove home the moral, all right, but at rather too heavy a cost for repetition every day.—Family Herald.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Where Humor Wins

Harmony is a good thing, but an occasional outbreak to clear the air is also good. One big point in any battle of words is for one side or the other to keep his sense of humor well to the fore, and by dint of some remark inserted in just the right place turn the battle into a lark.—Grit.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 27:1-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Be of good cheer:
it is I; be not afraid."—Matt. 14:27.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in a Storm
at Sea.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Story of a Shipwreck.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-
IC—Paul's Leadership.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-
IC—The Christian Overcoming Adverse
Circumstances.

1. The Voyage (vv. 1-20).

1. The Ship (vv. 1-6).

It was a vessel of Alexandria sailing
from Myra to Italy.

2. The Company (vv. 1-2).

Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus
and Luke were permitted to go with
him. Besides these three there were
two hundred and seventy-three in the
ship (v. 37).

3. The Storm (vv. 7-20).

The ship made little headway on ac-
count of unfavorable winds. Paul advised that they winter in Fair Havens
(vv. 9-12), but his advice was un-
heeded. The gentle south wind de-
ceived them so they loosed from Crete
only to be overtaken by the tem-
pestuous wind called Euroclydon.
They did everything possible to save
the ship; they took up the boat which
was towed behind; they bound great
cables around the ship to strengthen
it for the storm; they lightened the
ship by bringing down from the masts
and rigging everything that was super-
fluous, and finally the cargo and fackling were thrown overboard. All
this seemed to be of no avail and all
hope of being saved was removed. It
seemed that wicked men and material
forces were combined to prevent the
great apostle from reaching Rome.
However, these very experiences were
overruled by God to bring good cheer
and salvation to many on the way.
We should remember that tempestuous
winds as well as soft breezes await God's faithful ones. The presence of
storm does not prove that we are going
the wrong way.

II. Paul's Serene Faith (vv. 21-26).

To a man who does not know God,
upon the failure of the sun and stars
to shine for many days, the fading of
all hope is natural; but to the man of
faith, hope still burns brightly. God
is just as near to His own in the midst
of a stormy sea as in their quiet homes.
Observe Paul's behavior:

1. His Rebuke for Their Failure to Heed His Advice at Fair Havens (v. 21).

This was not a mere taunt, but a
reference to the wisdom of his former
advice, urging them to give him a more
respectful hearing.

2. Bids Them Be of Good Cheer (v. 22).

He inspired them with hope.

3. He Promises Them Safety (v. 22).

Though the ship go to pieces, every
man's life should be saved.

4. The Source of His Information (vv. 23-24).

The angel of God had revealed it
unto him.

5. The Reason of Paul's Calm Faith (v. 23).

"Whom I am, and whom I serve."
God can and will take care of His
property (John 10:28-29). Those who
have been redeemed by the blood of
Jesus are not their own, but God's.

III. The Ship's Crew All Safe on
Land (vv. 27-44).

This was exactly as the Lord had
said. We can rest assured that all
God has spoken will come to pass even
though there be a broken ship, brutal
soldiers and a perfidious crew. Aside
from the fulfillment of God's promises, the most important part of this
section is the splendid sanity which
characterized Paul's action on the way.
Three things marked his sanctified
common sense.

1. His Vigilance Detected That the
Sailors Had Planned to Escape (v. 30).

He knew how much they would be
needed presently, and at once took
steps to prevent their escape. He went
straight to the man in charge and
said, "Except these abide in the ship,
ye cannot be saved." Why should he
make such a declaration when God
had said that all should be saved? It
was because he was not one of those
foolish men who ignore human agency.
He practiced the truth that genuine
reliance upon God is the all-powerful
incentive to human action.

2. He Got Them to Take a Sub-
stantial Breakfast (v. 34).

It was no time to talk to these men
about their souls when their bodies
needed immediate attention.

3. He Gave Thanks to God (v. 35).

This he did in the presence of them
all. His prayer for that meal had
more effect upon the people than his
preaching would have had.

EDWIN JUDY WROTE OF
HIS TRIP TO UNIVERSITYMany Other Places of Interest Were Visited By Club Boys And Girls of Pickaway County—Interesting Lec-
tures And Splendid Entertainment Was Furnished During Stay In City.

Edwin Judy of Saltcreek township,
has written the following interesting
account of his recent trip to Columbus
and Ohio State university in company
with other club members from this
county:

"On Monday morning, November
16, I left for Columbus with seven
other club members from Pickaway
county."

"We arrived in Columbus about
12:30 and went to the Jefferson hotel
where we were to room during the
week. We went to our rooms and
then returned to the lobby of the hotel where we were separated into
groups of about twenty-five each to
go to the university."

We went into University hall to get
acquainted with our fellow members.
W. H. Palmer welcomed us to the
university and then were organized
into permanent groups for the week.

"We went to King avenue Methodist Episcopal church for our supper.
After supper we went to the gymna-
sium and there we had a general good
time and had a chance to get acquaint-
ed with our neighbors. After the
meeting we returned to our rooms in
the hotel."

"Tuesday we were awakened at 6
o'clock, for we were to eat breakfast
at the Mills restaurant at 7. We
went to the university and were in-
structed in tying knots that are useful
on the farm. This lasted about an
hour, to be continued the two days
following. On the last day of the
rope craft, we made a rope halter that
we were allowed to keep."

"We then enjoyed an hour of music
of the European countries played on
a Victrola. During the next hour, we
sang club songs and enjoyed a talk
on European customs by H. C. Ram-
sower. After dinner we sang songs
for about fifteen minutes and then we
picture."

During the afternoon we heard two
lectures; one on the problems of lead-
ership, and this told of the task remaining for the younger generation
and how club work prepares the boys
and girls for their tasks. The other
lecture was given by the field editor
of the National Stockman and Farm-
er. It told about the customs in Eu-
rope, mostly about the farming and
caring for the farm products in Eng-
land and France. We had about an
hour and a half before supper time
and during this hour we went to the
museum and other places on the
campus. After supper we went to

University hall and made a trip thru

Europe with Dean Vivian, by pictures.

"On Wednesday, we studied rope
tying, enjoyed the music, as it is composed and used in Asia, and heard
some notable people in Ohio speak.
Among these was the man who is
president of the 4 H Club work in California."

"In the afternoon, we listened to
a lecture on Asia given by Mr. A. W.
Place. In his lecture he explained
the life and customs of the Japanese.
He told how the Japanese could keep
all signs of emotion from showing on
their faces. After the lecture, some
club girls gave demonstrations. The
demonstrations that they gave were
given a few hours previous before a
group of doctors. The doctors expressed their surprise by saying that
they could not have brought out the
facts as well as the girls did."

"There remained an hour and a half
of the afternoon before supper and
we went out across the river to the
stock barns. We saw them grooming
the prize stallion that they are going
to take to the International Stock
Show at Chicago. We then went back
to the stadium to listen and watch the University band practicing. That
night we saw the picture show en-
titled, 'Peter Pan.'"

"Thursday forenoon, we visited the
state house, penitentiary and the Columbus Packing company. In the
afternoon, six boys and six girls gave
a demonstration of an ideal club
meeting."

"Mr. R. B. Tom, the recreation director of the university, gave us
games and other things to do at club
meetings after all business has been
finished. After that, we listened to
a lecture on the beauties of Ohio. In
the lecture, he explained where the
seat of Ohio was taken from. It is
a beautiful place between Circleville
and Chillicothe. In the evening, different groups gave stunts and a quar-
tet of officials sang."

"On Friday, we were entertained
with American music, played by Miss Fannie Buchanan on a Victrola. In
the afternoon, 4-H honors were awarded by Dean Vivian to the winners in
the various clubs in Ohio. In the
evening, a play was given to show
the Ideal 4-H club and its work, and
after this, we were taken on a trip,
by pictures, over the United States
by Dean Vivian."

"Dean Vivian then bade us farewell
and hoped that we would all return
to the university in the future."

Women of the same height and of similar build, wearing precisely the same costume, will look totally different, because one wears her clothes well and the other does not.
The grim appearance of the shingled head is sufficient in itself for the daytime, but at the dance, in the theater, or restaurant it seems to demand some kind of decoration. And so the decorative headdress for evening wear is finding favor. At a recent dance several pretty bandeaux were noted. One was of metal tissue; another, for black hair, was red, with a rose to match tucked behind the left ear. A tall woman, with brown hair wore two strips of golden-yellow silk ribbon, joined together after the fashion of the ancient Greeks, wide apart on top of the head and narrowing into one width over the ears. Where the ribbons met at the ears, flat, plaque-like decorations of yellow and brown artificial berries were suspended.

Man-Made Hurricane
To drive out the poisonous carbon monoxide produced by 46,000 autos that will pass daily through the new vehicular tunnel nearing completion beneath the Hudson river, a tearing hurricane will whirl constantly through the tube, says Popular Science Monthly. A unique system of ventilation approved recently solves the last important engineering problem of the great tunnel. Immense electric fans will drive a 75-mile gale through a seven-foot airway under the traffic road.

AMUSEMENTS
Richard Dix, Neil Hamilton, loaned to Paramount by D. W. Griffith; Claire Adams and Robert Edson are featured in William de Mille's latest production for Paramount, "Men and Women," coming to the Metropolitan theater for a two days' run beginning today.
"Men and Women" is an adaptation by Clara Beranger of the successful stage play by David Belasco and Henry C. de Mille. In the picture Dix has the role of a young bank cashier, who borrows his company's securities to make a "cleanup" in Wall street. After "Manhattan" and "Too Many Kisses" Dix is one of the most popular stars of the screen.
Hamilton, another most popular leading man, plays Dix's assistant in the production. He is in love with his superior's wife, played by Claire Adams, and doesn't put himself out at all to keep it a secret.

Miss Adams, who made her debut in Paramount pictures in "The Fast Set," also William de Mille production, is well cast as Agnes Prescott, the luxury-loving young wife of the cashier. It is her longing for the luxuries of life that leads her husband to borrow bank securities and get himself into a bad scrape.
Edson, seen in "The Golden Bed," the William de Mille film, "Locked Doors," and others, is cast as the banker in "Men and Women." Henry Stephenson has the role of a broker, who lets Dix in on a "sure thing" on the market, only to go bankrupt himself when the deal falls flat.
Flora Finch, of John Bunny Comedies fame, has the part of Miss Adams' newly-rich aunt from the West. She starts no end of trouble in the Preston household when she arrives and tells Mrs. Preston that she should have married someone with a little more business ability than the plodding Will. Agnes (Miss Adams) begins thinking that perhaps this is true and—but that's for the picture to tell.

Bright Colored Furs to Trim New Winter Coats

Bright colored furs are appearing in Paris as the trimming on winter coats. Also, slimness is a feature of many of the newer wraps, with wide flare effect around the skirt in the long coat frock outfit.

Popularity of Velvet

Velvet continues its successful reign in the world of fashion, and has been seen worn by the most strikingly dressed women in the crowds attending the Longchamps races, says a Paris fashion correspondent. A wider silhouette and slightly molded line have been adopted by practically everyone except, of course, for the tailored suit, which remains severe and masculine in its lines. The races also displayed smart coats in broad cloth, and even some in light-shaded tweeds.

One green velvet ensemble seen in the Jockey club's enclosure had a coat full in the back, a sable collar and cuffs and a Russian toque of green velvet. Beside it was a dark lavender blue tweed dress and coat. This coat had three box plaits on the sides, collar and cuffs of gray fox and a lavender rayon felt for a hat.

Another fur of grayish tones, resembling chinchilla, is popular this season. It is known as "susliki" and its origin is an American rat. Another novelty is a peroxidized moleskin, in which a golden shade is induced by the same treatment the hairdressers use to lighten milady's tresses. Quite a number of women at the races wore henna-colored hats.

Princess Lines Seen in New Frocks and Wraps

One of the significant fashion developments is the introduction of silhouettes much more varied than the straight chemise lines that have so long held sway.

The importance of the princess silhouette in its modern and modified version cannot be overemphasized, for it appears in the collection of practically every designer of note.

Not only does this new line attract attention in frocks, but it is followed in coats and wraps that in many cases exactly match or are in harmony with the dresses.

Many wraps reveal a tendency toward dolman lines. In several models of particular interest a close effect at the shoulders is achieved by fine gathers or shirrings and the wrap widens out gradually in a graceful flare toward the hem.

Rather similar in line are the new topcoats for sports or travel wear, made of stunning novelty woolen materials and distinguished by handsome trimmings of fur.

Taffeta Is Charming in Dainty Youthful Models

Taffeta is a material which some times think of as a material belonging especially to grandmothers, since it did in the days when they wore voluminous skirts. In reality it now is, or should be, almost the exclusive property of youth. It is a pity everyone cannot wear taffeta. It is such a pleasant-feeling material. If one needs new proof, however, that it looks its best in youthful models one has but to see the new evening models with the triple-plaited frills around the skirt. Some times these frills are of the taffeta pinked, and on some frocks they are made of malines in several shades. Sometimes the taffeta frock is opened at one side, a malines godet set in with the frills at the bottom, and the frill is carried all around the bottom of the dress and up the opening on each side. The frock is draped slightly at the top of this opening and headed by a rose or some other flower made of the taffeta.

New Accessories

Very new and chic are narrow scarfs of beige crepe de chine embroidered with modernistic motifs in colored silks. Gloves and bag of the same color are carried with these scarfs.

Lost His Temper

"Do I look like this picture?" he stormed, shaking it in the photographer's face. "You've made me look like a monkey! Cock-eyed, and a chin like a bulldog. Do you call that a good likeness?"

"The answer is in the negative," sweetly replied the photographer.—Everybody's Magazine.

STEVENSON

"To interpret America to Europe and to give Europeans authentic information about America," said Burton E. Stevenson, local librarian, Saturday, "is the task that I have assumed in accepting the position as head of the American Library in Paris."

Mr. Stevenson catalogued the books and magazines in an American fashion and was a party to the movement that resulted in the organization of the American library in Paris in 1920.

Since the organization of the association in Paris two other European branches have been opened and are doing very well.

The American idea of loaning books has been adopted and volumes are being sent out to libraries in other European countries and to universities.

At present between 12 and 15 people are employed in this European work. As the plan develops the force will be increased.

Besides the usual library work, two other branches are being carried on: A department of reference service on international affairs, which is equipped to give information on such matters to any interested person; secondly, a library school for 20 or 30 young people who are training for American library work in Europe.

The work of the association is financed by neither the American nor French governments but by endowment funds that aggregate more than 600,000 francs.

The library school and the international reference service is financed by the Laura Spellman-Rockefeller foundation.

On the board of trustees are such persons as:

Comtesse de Chamberlain, formerly a Miss Longworth, of Cincinnati; Miss Anne Morgan, Robert E. Olds, new assistant secretary of state, and Mrs. Edith Wharton, famous woman novelist.

Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, N. Y. C., now heads the American committee of the association.

Such prominent Frenchmen as the following are on the advisory council: Raymond Poincare, former president of France; Marshals Foch and Joffre and J. J. Jusserand, former ambassador to the United States.—Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

There isn't much wrong in a country where 83 per cent of the general complaint concern women's styles.

DOMESTIC QUARREL MAY PROVE FATAL

Akron, Nov. 30.—(UP.)—A domestic quarrel early today may result fatally for Mrs. Mary Thomas, 31, whose husband, George Thomas, is held in the city jail.

Thomas struck his wife with a heavy wrench when the couple quarreled, according to police. Mrs. Thomas attempted to defend herself with a razor and cut Thomas' hand.

Physicians said Mrs. Thomas' condition is critical.

MELBA

Likes Boston's Society and Its Music Best of All In America.

As far as Melba, the famous songbird, is concerned, Boston is the capital of the United States, at least along musical and social lines. She says so in the installment of her autobiography which appears in Liberty.

"What is there about Boston that makes its society so charming, with the same quiet appeal which one finds among one's friends in England?" asks Melba. "There is a quality about the social life in Boston totally different from that of most great American cities, a quality which can best be described as one of repose.

"Boston knew the best in music, and it has always had it. Indeed, all American audiences are audiences before which it is a delight to sing. Their praise is worth as much as, if not more than, that of any audience in the world.

"I wonder if the average reader to whom an orchestra is just an orchestra, a collection of instruments and nothing more, can realize the great soul which animated that superb institution, the Boston Symphony Orchestra. I grew to love that orchestra almost as though it had been a single human being instead of a collection.

A group of relatives and friends were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren, at their home in Kingston Saturday honoring Mr. Warren's seventy-seventh birthday anniversary. L. E. Hill. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and fern. Promptly at nine o'clock the Evangelical orchestra of which Miss Baird has been pianist, played several selections, after which Mrs. Glen Miesse, of Columbus, sang "Till the End of the World." To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bridal party was ushered to the altar by the ushers, Miss Luella Barr and Mr. Kenneth Greeno. The ring ceremony was used, during which Mrs. Garold Crites played a violin solo, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Roy Lutz. x HARTMAN THEATER. x x x x x x x x x
Leon Gordon, hero of the outstanding dramatic hit of the past two seasons is to be presented in "White Cargo," produced by Earl Carroll, at the Hartman theater, Columbus, all next week starting Monday night, December 7. This happy combination being sponsored by Earl Carroll. Mr. Carroll is known to the theater going public chiefly for his "vanities," but a perusal of his life history will show that his first energies were devoted to the dramatic. Had he achieved the tremendous hit that was attained by "White Cargo" earlier in his career it is possible that the more commercial "vanities" might never have been created.

Mr. Gordon has a number of successes to his credit, but none has climbed the heights so rapidly or so remunerately as has "White Cargo." Arrived at an enviable position as leading man for most of the stars the success of "White Cargo" led Mr. Gordon to announce his retirement from the stage. Whether he holds to this decision remains to be seen, but the fact remains that he listened to the siren voice of Earl Carroll long enough to star in this greatest hit with this company. He has been so fortunate and successful as author, actor and director that it is going to be difficult for him to settle into one line of activity. In the meantime he lends added importance to one of the most important dramatic events of the season.

"White Cargo" deals with the struggles of the white men who dwell on the rough edge of civilization in tropical Africa, to wrest from the rank forests the rubber so necessary in our daily lives. Harassed by climatic conditions these men sometimes succumb to the moral undercurrent that sweeps up from the tropical jungles and the burning deserts. The author contends that mind and heart are affected by the damp rot of the country and in this vivid "portrayal of the primitive" as it has been termed, "White Cargo" set a new style in drama. It touches a very ticklish question of life as lived on the edge of Africa. It requires a master touch to avoid sensationalism and this is attained by players of exceptional ability. These include Wallie Clark, Frederick Forrester and B. N. Lewin. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.
